

The Path Forward to Achieve Universal Healthcare for All Mainers

SOUTHWEST HARBOR - Please join Jean Rohrer of Maine Allcare Thursday evening, November 16, 5:30 at the Southwest Harbor Public Library for an important conversation about securing universal healthcare for all Mainers. Learn more about the statewide grassroots effort and how you can get involved. For other industrialized countries, this system is a reality. Other healthcare systems are less expensive, more efficient, and more effective. With your help we can bring this evidence-based solution to all Maine people: universal, high quality and affordable health care.

Maine AllCare is a non-partisan, non-profit organization committed to educating the Maine public and policymakers, including legislators, about how to improve upon the new federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA) in order to make healthcare in Maine universally accessible and affordable for all. Maine AllCare is dedicated to the goal of achieving universal, high-quality and affordable health care. For the past six years, Maine AllCare has been taking steps to help Maine achieve an improved healthcare system and service for all of its citizens.
